The Gold Markel.—The speculation in gold continues, the price opening to day at 115½, advancing to 115½ at 2-45 P. M., and closing at 115½6115½. In addition to the first party f rined to advance gold, and which was reported to be composed shiefly of advance gold, and which was reported to be composed thiefly of the German bankers and others who were unfavorable to the Syndicate, it is lately rumored that another clique has been formed for the same purpose, embracing some well-known bankers accustomed to engage in speculative transactions. If the reports is regard to these cliques are true, either in whole or in part, it is possible that they will encourage short sales, by giving the market at times the appearance of weakness. On gold loans the rates paid for carrying to-day were 2, 3, 4, 5, and 3½ per cent, and 1, 1-64, and 1-32 per cent to flat for borrowing. Time loans in gold are now quoted at 1-16@½ for use of gold for thirty days; ½@½ for sixty and ninety days; ‡@½ for four months; ‡@½ per cent for six months, and 2 per cent for all the year. At the Treasury sale of $1,500,000 on Thursday the total bids amounted to $6,745,000. Customs receipts for the week amount to $2,402,000. $2,492,000.

The following table will show the course of the gold premium each day of the past week:

Foreign Exchange—The market has been altogether demoralized by the high rates for gold and the extreme tightness in money, which have checked the demand for exchange, while at the same time there has been a good supply of commercial bills offering. The old influence of borrowed bills may also have had some effect, though it is said that there is a prowing prejudice among bankers against the practice of lending their bills to stock among bankers against the practice of lending their offin to stock operators, by whom they are thrown on the street at low rates, with the necessary result of breaking down prices. Nombal rates are quoted below, though very good bills could be bought to-day at much lower prices. The following are the quotations:

EXPLANATION OF STOCK AND BOND TABLES.

- 1. Prices of the most Active Stocks and Bonds are given in the "Bankers' Gazette," previously. Full quotations of all other securities will be found on preceding pages.
- 2. Government Securities, with full information in regard to each sea, the periods of interest payment, size or denomination of bonds, and numerous other details, are given in the U.S. Debt statement published in The Chronicle on the first of each month
- 3. City Bonds, and Hank, Insurance, City Italiroad and tas Stocks, with quotations, will usually be published the first three eeks of each month, on the page immediately preceding this.
- 4. The Complete Tables of State Securities, City Securities, and Railroad and Miserlaneous Stocks and Honds will be regularly published on the last Saturday in each month. The publication of these tables, occupying fourteen pages, requires the issue of a supplement, which is neatly stitched in with the usual edition and furnished to all regular subscribers of The Chronicle.

INVESTMENTS-COUNTY, TWONSHIP AND MUNI-CIPAL BONDS.

These bonds are now attracting more attention than at any previous time, on account of the very large aggregate amount of them outstanding. In New York State alone, it appears by a report made to the Constitutional Commission, that the total debt of townships amounts to the large sum of $25,167,781, not including the debts of cities. In Missouri, the Auditor reports a large amount of town, county and city bonds registered in his office, and municipalities in Illinois, Kansas, Ohio, &c., are well known as having issued large amounts of these bonds. The status of city bonds is better known than the others, on account of the greater ease with which information can be obtained about the financial affairs of prominent cities, and from the fact that their loans are usually issued in larger amounts, and are introduced upon the lead. ing financial markets with the publicity necessary in such cases. But in regard to the immense number of small issues of town and county bonds in the Western States, it is impossible to purchase such securities with safety, unless the circumstances attending their issue are thoroughly investigated, and the fact well established that they are legal, and the municipal corporations putting them out are abundantly responsible and able to pay

In this connection we may refer to an elaborate work just published in this city by Mr. W. N. Coler, treating of the "Law of Municipal Bonds." This book, embracing two large volumes of nearly 500 pages each, gives the general rules of law applicable to these securities; and secondly, the laws and decisions of each State in regard to bonds of this class issued by counties, towns, &c. The price of the work is $10, and we should think (without having examined the contents in detail) that it would be an invaluable assistant to every dealer in this class of securities.

The registry laws in Illinois, Missouri and Kansas, requiring all bonds to be registered with the State authorities, have preved an important step towards preventing fraud, and furnishing a partial guaranty of value as to the bonds registered; but still the issues are so numerous, that purchasers should have definite information as to the origin and history of each particular class of bonds they propose to invest in.

As personal examination is in most cases impossible, purchasers are obliged to rely upon the statements of their brokers, and as a consequence of this necessity there are several firms in our city who make the examination of, and dealing in municipal bonds a specialty. Several of these firms advertise from time to time in our columns, and some of them, we understand, furnish a certificate to all purchasers from themselves, stating that they guarantee the bond was legally issued, and that the municipality is able and can be compelled to pay it.

Tennessee Finances—"New Issues" of the Bank of Tennessee.—The State Treasurer, Mr. Morrow, says; "The only question decided so far, and that by our inferior courts is that the bank is liable for this new issue, and must receive it in payment of its debts, when tendered by any party owing the bank. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of the State, which

An appear was taken to the Supreme Court of the State, which has not been decided yet.

"The bank assets are sufficient to absorb every dollar of the 'new issue,' as I harn, and there is no probability that this money will ever be paid in for taxes, as the old has been.

"No holder, so far as I know, seeks to held any one else but the bank liable."

Georgia Bonds.—The bondholders will be pleased to learn that the bill recently passed by the Georgia Legislature, providing for the payment of the past due interest on the $2,598,000 gold, quarterly 7 per cent bonds, and apprepriating $567,000 for other past due interest, has been signed by the Governor.

—A Raleigh, N. C., special says that the North Carolina Legis lature has adjourned without passing any party measures. Of the 500 laws enseted all are of special character but fifty. The tax levied by the State for the year is fifteen and a half cents on every one bundred dollars, and $1 05 on the poll, which raises $800,000.

Brooklyn Clty.-The Law Committee of the Brooklyn Aldermen, after a conference with the City Comptroller, resolved to report in favor of applying to the Legislature to raise to $4,00,000 the amount to which city bonds can be issued for ordinary local improvements other than repaying; and to fix the limit for repaving at $1,500,000.

In the above statement there is included that part of the original cost of the property which has not hitherto been represented in the accounts by either stock or bonds.

As to the Burlington and Missouri River Railroad Company, the railroad and appurtenances have been transferred, and are now held under the form of a lease in perpetuity, which it is expected will, at an early day, be superseded by an absolute consolidation, when the stock certificates, now held by the stockholders of the Burlington and Missouri River Railroad Company will be called in and these of the Chiesger Burlington and Ouisev Rail. called in, and those of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company substituted therefor.

On the last day of the year, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy

Company took possession of the railroad and property of the Burlington and Missouri River Railroad Company, and assumed its liabilities and obligations. From and after that date, the railroads and properties of the two companies are to be operated and treated as one.

The following statement exhibits a summary of the combined assets and liabilities of the two companies, as consolidated at the date of this report, in reference to the management and conduct, the following from the Annual Report:

The report shows that the ratio of working expenses is 794 per cent, a decrease as compared with 1871 of 74 per cent. The net earnings, being $410,451, have increased $200,396 as compared with the year ending December 31, 1871. The total earnings for 1871 were $1,690,976; for 1872, $2,029,164—increase $338,196. The local freight increase was $58,996; through freight increase $215,795; through passenger increase $28,112, local passenger decrease $17,410, showing that there is a marked increase in every description of traffic except local passengers.

In addition to ordinary expenses, a large outlay has been made during the year for construction, reconstruction and extraordinary renewals.

There were invested in the Cincinnati and Baltimore Company There were invested in the Cincinnati and Baltimore Company $400,000 for capital stock, and $230,741 09 cash advanced, and in the stock of the Baltimore Short Line Company $50,000 were invested and $37,495 59 advanced in cash. About 674,000 new cross-ties and 20,928 tons of new and rerolled rails, more than sufficient to relay the entire line from Parkersburg to Cincinnati, were placed in the main track and branches, and charged to repairs.

A third mortgage for $3,000,000 was placed upon the property in 1870, the bonds realizing from 70 to 80 per cent, an average rate far above that obtained for those of the second mortgage.

The grosss earnings steadily increased after 1868, but it was not until 1871 and 1872, when the increase attained the ratio of twenty per cent annually, the augmented revenue began to yield a return commensurate with the heavy outlay for construction and extraordinary expenses, which, while made at the lowest cash rates for labor and material, have so largely enhanced the intrinsic parts of the property. worth of the property.

As was to be expected a very large floating debt has been incurred, now amounting after deducting the available means on hand, including the stock and debt of the Cincinnati and Baltimors, and Baltimore Short Line Companies, to about two and a quarter millions, which it is proposed to fund by a fourth mortgage for four millions of dollars, using the surplus as may be required for improvements.

CINCINNATI AND BALTIMORE RAILROAD.

CINCINNATI AND BALTIMORE RAILROAD.

This line was completed on the first day of June, 1872, as a single track road. In consequence of the largely increased business of the Marietta & Cincinnati road and the traffic of the Cincinnati and Springfield road, it was determined, as indicated in the report for 1871, to commence at once a double track, and the capital stock was increased to $800,000. This work has progressed satisfactorily, and the double track will be completed in July, 1873, when the rent from the Cincinnati and Springfield Company will be increased to $40,000 per annum. Of the Cincinnati and Baltimore Company's bonds, $314,000 have been sold, leaving $186,000 to be disposed of, but the Marietta and Cincinnati Company has advanced, in addition to its subscription of $396,300, cash amounting to $230,741 09, which will be repaid by the Cincinnati and Baltimore Company as the bonds and stock are sold.

BALTIMORE SHORT LINE.

The survey of this road having been completed and the line

The survey of this road having been completed and the line located, contracts were made in September, 1872, and the work has been vigorously pressed. The Marietta and Cincinnati Company, in addition to $50,000 subscription to the stock, has advanced the Baltimore Short Line in cash $37,495 59. It is expected that this road will be finished early in 1874, thus lessening the distance between Cincinnatl and Parkersburg more than 10 miles,

The cash dividends received from the Oil Creek Railroad have been paid to the Pennsylvania Railroad on account of interest on the bonds used in the purchase of that stock. The July dividend only was received in the bonds of the Oil Creek and Alleghany River Railway Company at their market value, and are still held by this company at available assets. The report says, in relation to dividends. to dividends:

Notwithstanding the flattering increase in the business of the road, as stated, your board regret to say that after paying all necessary expenses no margin is left to admit of our declaring a dividend, however small, to the stockholders. This result is due in part to the expense consequent on the burning of Linden bridgo and to the purchase of a large amount of iron at high prices for track renewal, but mainly to the peculiar character of the read, being a single track 287 mittel long, with only the necessary sidings for passing trains, and travereing in that olstance two mountain summits at an elevation of 1.400 feet above tidewater, with an interval of only 35 miles between them, and with grades from 52 to 104 feet per mile on either side, where the separation of freight trains and the use of extra motive power is rendered indispensable, thereby increasing the coat of grading it beyond that of ordinary roads in the country.

The operating expenses for 1871 were $1,094,638.97; net earnings for 1871, $471,571.28. The operating expenses for 1872 were $1,329,641.39; net earnings for 1872, $606,837.90, showing an increase of net earnings for 1872 of $135,269.62.

The receipts have been—from passengers $877,408.72; from freight, $947,805.19; from other sources, $111,265.38.

Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western.—Arrangements have been completed by the officers of the Quincy, Missouri and Pacific Railroad, with C. W. Smith, representing the Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western Railroad, backed by the Pennsylvania Central, by which the former road will be finished to Brownswille, Nebraska, as fast as practicable. Mr. Smith, under the new arrangement, will become President of the Quincy, Missouri and Pacific Railroad. The election takes place this month. As part of the arrangement, the Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western Railroad is to be built from Havana, Ill., to Quincy at once.—Daily Bulletin. once.—Daily Bulletin.

Cleveland, Col., Cincinnati & Indiaunpolis.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis Railroad Company was held March 5. The following directors were elected: P. H. Watson, New York; General George B McClellan, New York; S. L. M. Barlow, New York; J. J. Cisco, New York; W. B. Duncan, New York; F. Schuchardt, New York; H. E. Parsons, Achtabula; R. R. Ranney, Cleveland; H. B. Hurlbut, Cleveland; L. M. Hubby, Cleveland; Stillman Witt, Cleveland; T. P. Handy, Cleveland; R. M, Shoemaker. Cincinnati. Shoemaker, Cincinnati.

The Board of Directors subsequently elected the following executive officers

President, H. B. Horlbut; Vice-President, H. E. Parsons; Gen-

President, H. B. Horlbut; Vice-President, H. E. Parsona; General Manager, Oscar Townsend; General Superintendent, E. S. Flint; Secretary and Treasurer. George II Reasell; Auditor, Alfred Ely; Chief Engineer, Frank Ford, General Freight Agent, Lucien Hills; General Ticket Agent, S. F. Pierson.

It will be seen that the majority of the Board of Directors represent the Eric Rallway interest.

Oscar Townsend, retiring President, was appointed general manager. All the subordinate officers were reappointed. The report of the Directors for the last year shows the gross earnings of the road to have been $1,573.170.85, of which $3,329.999.91 was from freight. The surplus over expenses for the vear was $39,648.19, which makes the company's total surplus $310,412.01. $39,648 19, which makes the company's total surplus $310,412 01.

Over $1,000,000 was paid in dividends. The assets foot up $19,772,972, including nearly $2,000,000 la stock of other rallway and transportation companies.

Boston, Hartford & Erle.-The Tribune says in regard to this Boston, Hariford & Eric.—The Tribune says in regard to this road: There are at present four leading interests. The Eric Railway Company have guaranteed $5,000,000 of the first mortigage bonds of the road, under certain conditions and this is now a subject of litigation; then there are the bondholders, who have received no interest in three years, at i are anxious to foreclose; thirdly, the contractors who built, and those who furnished supplies for the road, all asserting that their claims should take precedence of all others; and finally, the stockholders, represented by Frederick A. Lane, President, and the B and of Directors. It is no secret that for months past a few wealthy men have been buying up the mortgage bonds of the road, with the intestion of foreclosing as soon as the necessary forms of law can be complied foreclosing as soon as the necessary forms of law can be compiled with, and a considerable amount of litigation in which the road is interested be disposed of. Under a foreclosure sale all the out-standing obligations would be settled or wiped out, and the road would pass into the possession of the highest bidder.

Ala. & Chattanooga R. R .- The Savannah (Ga.) Advertiser

says:
The bond committee, in their report to the Legislature, gave it as their opinion that the State was liable for her indorsement of the bonds of the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad. However, when the question came up the House retused to adopt the resolution offered by the Bond Committee, declaring the bonds valid and binding. The Senate, however, declared them valid; valid and binding. The Senate, however, declared them valid; so the two houses failing to harmonize, the question remained in statu quo. During the past session the Senate passed a resolution declaring the bonds valid, but when the resolution came to the House they refused to concur in it, and the matter is at a dead-lock. Prominent lawyers, familiar with the status of the case, claim that Georgia will lose about $60,000 by this neglect on the part of the Legislature. That amount has already been expended by the State on the road, and now it is stated that Alabama will apply to the Supreme Court of the United States by a writ of Injunction against Georgia to dispossess her of any part of the road, and in this suit she will be joined by many citizens of Northwest Georgia, who are contractors, sub-contractors, laborers and stock-holders in the enterprise. A reterence to the receiver's bonds of this Company appears in another column.

Cleveland, Mount Vernon & Delaware.-It is reported that the Pennsylvania Company have advanced $1,000,000 to the above road to complete its connection between Dresden and Gilbert Elevated Rullroad .- It is again stated that the contract for the construction of a section of this road on the west of Broadway, New York, to the Central Park has been awarded to the New England from Company, that $5,000,000 of its bonds have been sold in England, and that a large amount of stock has been sold.

Pacific Mail.—The Directors of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company held a meeting this week, the proceedings being withheld from publication. The Tribune says: "It is understood, however, that one of the results of the meetings for the past few days has been a negotiation for the purchase of the vessels of the California, New Zealand & Australia Mail Steamship Company, four in number, and named, respectively, Nevada, Nebraeka, Dakota, and Moses Taylor. One of the officers of the company, said that the vessels had been secured at a price would be accreed. said that the vessels had been secured at a price would be agreed upon as soon as several experts, who were to examine them, should make their report. It is expected that the purchase of these vessels will involve the expenditure of about $1,000,000.

-The Maryland Court of Appenls has decided the long pending litigation between the Georges Creek Coal Company and the New Central Coal Company, in favor of the latter-affirming the validity of the latter's charter, and giving them the right to build a railroad to one of their mines, which the former company attempted to prevent.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, March 7, 1873. With exceedingly cold and unseasonable weather throughout the whole of the past week, little progress has been made towards the oponing of what is termed the "spring trade." Still something has been accomplished towards improving the condition of thing has been accomplished towards improving the condition of our streets, and less difficulty has been experienced from the ice in the harbor. The great trunk railways have been partially relieved (by the termination of the season for most descriptions of game, and by other circumstances) of the crowd of "perishable" merchandise upon their carrying capacity, and promise better supplies of staple products, which, it seems, will be much needed, as the lateness of the season threatens to cause great delay in the resumption of inland navigation.

The following is a statement of the stocks of leading articles of domestic and foreign merchandise, at dates given:

COTTON.

FRIDAY, P. M., March 7, 1873.

By special telegrams received to-night from the Southern ports, we are in possession of the returns showing the receipts, exports, &c., of cotton for the week ending this evening, March 7. It appears that the total receipts for the seven days have reached 82,307 bales against 105,528 bales last week, 109,153 bales the previous week and 122,052 bales three weeks since, making the total receipts since the first of September, 1872, 2,798,164 ones against 2,292,827 bales for the same period at 1871-72, showing an increase since September 1, 1872, of 505,337 bales. The details of the receipts for this week (as per telegraph) and for the corresponding weeks of the five previous years are as follows:

The market for spot cotton has been quite irregular the past week. Considerable pressure to sell the low grades has been apparent, resulting in lower prices for those qualities. Tuesday ordinary of all growths was reduced $\frac{1}{2}$, leading to a good business for export in Gulf cuttons, but this acom anisaided, and on Thursday a further decline of $\frac{1}{2}$c, was submitted to, which again stimulated the export demand. To day the same grades were further reduced $\frac{1}{2}$c, insting $\frac{1}{2}$c, since last $\text{Fr}$ day, without, however, leading to much business, and the market closed weak. There has been no change in the price of other qualities. For future delivery the market opened firm, and with even a show of buoyancy. Late Monday and early Tuesday accounts from liver pool were more favorable, while up to that time the receipts at the ports, as reported at the Cotton Exchange, showed a falling off of shout 50 per cent as compared with the preceding week. The highest prices on Tuesday morning were: for March 204c, for April 204c., for May 20 15-16c, for June 21 5-16c, and for July 21 9-16c; but the market broke before noon, the advices from liverpool being less favorable, receipts at the ports again on a liberal scale, and there followed a steady decline, which has been continued during the remainder of the week. To day the early months were comparatively steady, but the later months fell off 1-16\alpha(c, the whole market closing weak, March selling after Change at 192c. The prices for futures has reported were (basis low middling) 19-15-16c, tor March, 204c, for April, 204c, for May, 20-15-16c for June, and 204c, for July. The total sales of this description for the week are 122,250 bales, including ... tree on board. For immediate delivery the total sales for up this week 10,074 bales, including 7,078 for export, 2,720 for consumption, 276 for speculation, and ... in transit. Of the above 463 bales were to arrive. The following are the closing quotations to-day:

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—It has rained two days slightly at New Orleans the past week. At Mobile it has rained on one day; preparations for planting are very backward. There has been no rain at Schua. At Montgomery it has rained one day; the indications now are of fair weather. It has also rained one day at Augusta, Columbus, Charleston and Memphis; our Memphis telegram states that the rivers are now inling, that the crop is being marketed freely. The thermometer at Charleston has averaged 42, Montgomery and Columbus 45, Macon 42.

SUPPLY AND CONSUMPTION OF COTTON.—An article with regard to the supply and consumption of cotton for 1873 will be found in our editorial columns, to which we would call the attention of our readers.

on wharves, 5,533 bales; on shipboard (not cleared) 8,717 bales; total, 00.858.

BOMBAY SHIPMENTS.—According to our cable dispatch received to-day, there have been 23,000 bales shipped from Bombay to Great Britain the past week and 12,000 bales to the continent, while the receipts at Bombay, during the same time have been 42,000 bales. The movement since the first of January is as follows. These are the figures of W. Nicol & Co., of Bombay, and are brought down to Thursday, March 6:

SHIPPING NEWS.—The exports of cotton from the United States the past week, as per latest mail returns, have reached 58,360 bales. So far as the Southern ports are concerned, these are the same exports reported by telegraph, and published in The Chronicle last Friday, except Galveston, and the figures for that port are the exports for two weeks back. With regard to New York, we include the manifests of all vessels cleared up to Wednesday night of this week:

BREADSTUFFS

FRIDAY P. M., March 7, 1873. The market for breadstuffs during the past week has taken a favorable turn as regards shipping grades of flour, spring wheat and Indian corn, but in other respects has remained quiet, with prices in some cases lower.

Flour has ruled firm, and low grades being in demand for the British Provinces and Great Britain, have recovered 10@25c. per bbl. from the lowest point. Common Western extras, which, under a pressure to sell from the wharf, could be picked up in lots of 1 or 200 bbls. at $6 75@$6 85, cannot now be had under $7, and we heard of $7 30 being bid for a large line of a wellknown brand. The better grades have been rather more salable, and prices firm, but receipts being again pretty liberal checks any advancing tendency. Rye flour has materially declined. To-day the market was quiet, but very firm.

Wheat has been more steady, and in spring growths there has been a good degree of activity for export, including No. 3 spring at $1 54@$1 55; No. 2 Chicago, $1 58@$1 62}; No. 2 Milwaukee, at $1 63}@$1 67, and No. 1 spring at $1 72@$1 75, the lower figures early in the week. Local millers have done but little, as wheat, owing to present scarcity in this market, is relatively higher than flour. White wheats are irregular in quality, and prices cover a wide range. Receipts at the Western markets continue largely in excess of last year, and the visible supply in the United States does not diminish. To-day three loads of spring sold for export at $1 64@$1 68 for No. 3 Northwest and Milwaukee in store and afloat being 1c advance.

Indian corn has latterly shown some improvement in the demand, and holders have been able to establish a slight recovery in prices. Shippers have purchased moderately, paying 631@64c. in store, and 66@66tc. afloat, for old Western mixed; 64t@66c. for new do. aficat, as in quality, and 651@66c. for new Delaware yellow. Receipts are moderate and the home trade improving. For May delivery there have been sales of about 100,000 bushela prime Western mixed at 61c. affoat. To-day the market was very quiet, but holders firm.

Rye has sold to a limited extent at 93c for Western in store In barley there have been some closing out sales on private terms. understood to be at some decline.

Oats have been pressed on the market, and have declined fully 2c. per bush., with large sales of prime new mixed at 49c., and do. white at 51c. To-day there was a firmer feeling, and prime old mixed in store brought 51c.

THE CHRONICLE.

GROCERIES.

FRIDAY EVENING, March 7, 1873.

There has been a lack of animation in the grocery market during the past week, and the tendency of prices on almost all articles has been in favor of the buyer. This is due to the stagnation of business by the blockadod condition of roads in the country, and to the stringency of money both here and in the interior. Coffee has drooped considerably, and is shaded a fraction from our last quotations. Sugar is easy and off a point, while tea is heavy and is quoted nominally. Foreign fruits have been strong, and, in some cases, are quoted higher. Spices are firm and rather higher.

TEA.

The position of the market as developed during the current week would indicate a condition of affairs not fully justifying the favorable view we took of the situation in our last report. This is the season for heavy arrivals, and although the teas now coming in are landed at a losa, the effect of these receipts added to the present enormous stocks in the country, the result of last year's accumulation, must necessafily depress our markets. The position of the importing trade is a trying one. The sales into distribution are restricted to the running wants of the trade, and importers are compelled to carry the bulk of the stock. The market for Greens is unsettled, and the small sales effected have been at prices tending in favor of buyers. This is more especially the case in the lower grades, the finer qualities being in better demand, though lower prices have to be accepted to move these. sales indicate an actual decline of 1@2c. per th. since our last. Japans are dull and weak, and these, as well as Oolongs, are quoted nominally in the absence of trade. Other grades are flat and nominal. We have had three arrivals during the week, the "Aurora Australia," from Amoy, with Oolongs; the "Jae. S. Stone," from Shanghae, with Greens, and the "Devana," from Yokohama, with Japans. The sales have included 5,000 half chests Greens, 1,900 do. Oolongs, and 200 do. Souchongs.

Imports the past week have included 507,305 lbs. Black, per "Aurora Australis," from Amoy; 56,259 lbs. Black, 626 075 lbs. Green and 41,264 lbs. Japan, per "Jamas S. Stone," from Shanghai, and 889,665 lbs. Japan, per "Devana," from Yokohama.

COFFEE.

The market for Brazil coffees has been weakened somewhat during the past weak by the adverse reports from Rio and the apathy prevailing here. The telegram of Feb. 6 advises accumulating stocks and very heavy receipts, with prices down to 9$600. The sales on American account were not heavy, and the shipments and loadings were small. Exchange was up a fraction, but while that offsets a portion of the decline it does not prevent the news from having a depressing effect here. It is not likely, however, that the holders of coffee here will be induced to make very liberal concessions while the supply remains as light as it now is, not only in this market but throughout the Values have already yielded a fraction from the highest point interior. reached during the late excitement, and the arrival of the cargo new due may result in a further light decline, though the stock will be landed at a barc profit if the current prices are maintained. The jobbing demand for the week has been fair in the aggregate, but huyers are taking no more than they need to meet actual running requirements. The lower grades continue scarce, and are firmly held. West India coffees have sold to a fair extent, and continue to realize full prices, though the market is duller at the close, in sympathy with Rio. Javs coffee has been quiet, but closes steady. The sales include 3,865 bags Rio, cx "Ontario;" 3,260 bags Laguayra, ex "St. Thomas," at 194@ 19%c.; 1,972 do. Ceylon, 620 do. St. Domingo, 235 do. Savanilla. and 733 mats Singapore sold in lots for consumption, and 2,720 bags St. Domingo exported to Europe; 3,500 bags to arrive at Mobile, ex "Catherine;" 200 do. at Baltimore, ex "Campanero;" 2,003 do. ex "C. R. C.," and 500 do., to arrive, ex "Virginia Dare," 500 at Galveston, 200 at Savannah.

Imports at this port the past week have included 7,214 bags Legusyra, er "St. Thomas," and 800 do. St. Domingo, per "Issac Oliver."

SUGAR.

† Also, 20,871 mats.

There has been a very fair business during the past week, chiefly in centrifugal and clayed sugars, which are still attracting the most attention.

There has been a fair cali for Muscovado sugars, and good refining has been pretty well cleared out. The basis of quotations has been lowered an eighth, but the range is widened somewhat, owing to the scarcity of "good" sugars, which remain at 8%c., while "fair" is down to 8%c. Centrifagals remain at previous rates, and are firmly held. The demand from refiners is improving somewhat, as the outlet for their products is becoming more liberal. A few large refineries are running on full time, and their productions supply the demand for the moment, and eneck operations on the part of other refiners who prefer closing their works to running at a loss. Refined shows a little nore steadiness at the close, and the indications are that the bottom has been reached. We note sales of 3,450 hhds. Cuba at 7%@8%c.; 1,755 boxes and 800 hhds. Centrifugals, 9%@9%c.; 268 hhds. Porto Rico, 8%@9%c.; 550 boxes clayed, 8%@9%c.; 167 hhds. and 160 bbls. Demerara, to the trade, at 10@10%c.; 10i hhds. Martinique, 734@Sc.; 7,666 bags Manita at 8 1-16c.; 60 boxes Havana at 8%c.

MOLASSES.

Refining operations are being extended somewhat, but the direct importations of refiners have supplied their wants for the most part, and the current sales of goods for their uses are extremely small. The stock of Cuba is well under control, and amounts to only about 834 hhds., including grocery quali. ties. Of Porto Rico there are 691 hhds, here, which are held at former rates, with the reduction of slock progressing very slowly. The stock of English Islands descriptions amounts to 117 hhds. There has been a fair call for domestic grades during the past week, and the stock is reduced to 7,500 bbla. Quotations remain the same as last given, 75c. being the extreme for choice goods. The market for syrups has not been very active, but with a light production prices are steadily maintained. Sugar syrups worth about 45c, ara most in request, and are scarce. "Black strap" is selling for future delivery at 21@22c. in bbls., and 18c. in hhds. Sales since our last have included 350 bbls. domestic at 70@75c., and a few trade lots of foreign.

The receipts at New York, and stock in first hands March 6, were as follows:

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., March 7, 1873. The distribution of drygoods in a jobbing way has not been very liberal during the past week, owing in a great measure to the continued coldness of the weather, which has the effect of preventing consumers in the interior from engaging to any ex. tent in trade, either in moving their own products or purchasing goods. This complete stagnation of business in the country, more especially the West and Northwest, together with the operations of speculators here, have produced a tightness of money over almost the entire country, and the outlook for the spring trade is not of a most encouraging character. The distribution so far this season has been in unusually small lots, but the aggregate has been fair, all things considered, and some of the lead ing commission houses report their sales as footing up about as heavy as for a like period in former years. This must be, however, where there has been a number of cotton accounts included, as the woolen business is far below the averago. The principal buyers at present are the heavy dealers in the interior, who are taking considerable amounts, and have helped to make the trade from first hands during the current week aggregate a fair amount. The advent of milder weather and the removal of the existing obstructions to transportation here and in the interior may have the effect of reviving trade, though much of the early spring business has been lost, and is not likely to be recovered.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS-The attitude of the general market during the week has been about as last noted on all of the more important lines of cotton fabrics. Prices have ruled very strong for the most part, and rather tended upward, the only exception being where the dulness of trade has induced jobbers to shade prominent lines of cotton to push sales. This practice has not been so general this season as to materially affect the market, which is fully sustained by the very small supply of staple cottons in first hands. The demand for brown and bleached sheetings has been more liberal than the agents for the principal brands could supply, and sales continue to be effected largely in advance of the production. Contracts are made chiefly "at value," the tendency of values being toward higher rates in the future. The sales of prints continue to be on a liberal scale, the demand ranning mainly on medium effects in chocolates, "polka spots," padded and white grounds, and shirting stripes. Percales and lawns are somewhat slow of sale, owing to the unfavorable condition of the weather for the distribution of these summer fabrics. Colored cottons rule firm, with a fair jobbing demand for well assorted lots.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS .- Agents continue to work off moderate amounts of goods for the Spring trade, but the move ment is far from active. Clothiers have completed their pur chases for the most part, and will soon be canvassing the market for their fall assortments, though the utter absence of speculative feeling leads holders to look for a later demand this year than usual. The slow distribution is effecting a gradual reduction of the stocks of fancy cassimeres, and the market is steady at previous quotations. "The better grades are well cleared out, but the offerings of low-priced goods are still liberal. From second hands the sales remain light. The stocks of spring shawls have been opened by the agents for all of the leading knitting mills, since our last report, but as yet comparatively few have been disposed of. The offerings are principally stripes, but include many very choice styles.

Foreign Goods.—The imports of dry goods are beginning to run lower, and holders show a better feeling in the face of the dull trade than they might were the supplies to continue to come in upon them as freely as they did at the opening of the year. The demand for imported goods from first hands has been rather slack, dress fabrics alone moving with any degree of freedom. All of the principal lines of both British and Continental dress fabrics have sold freely, and are fully maintained at the opening rates. For most other lines of imported goods the demand has been light, and the running wants of the trade have been supplied of a large extent by the sales at auction, which have been rather large, and have attracted good attendances of buyers.

THE TREASURY AND THE PROSPECTS OF BUSINESS.

The election of Mr. Boutwell to the United States Senate has deprived the Treasury of the services of a statesman, whose staunch patriotism, incorruptible honesty, and faithful work have won him honor in almost every great office which his State and his country have in their gift. The people lose Mr. Boutwell from the Treasury with regret, because his administration in its Internal Revenue Bureau, and later as its responsible chief, has been characterized by purity, economy and success.

Conjecture, for some time past, has been busy as to his successor, and it is of grave moment that the choice should fall upon the right man. Some of our most experienced observers believe that the coming four years of our financial history are likely to be much more troublous than the last. The relations of the Treasury to the business machinery of the country are drawing closer every year, and call for greater courage, honesty, skill and knowledge in the Secretary. Mr. Boutwell, in spite of his faults, which are more conspicuous than hurtful, has been in almost all essential points as efficient, judicious and faithful in the Treasury, as in the other distinguished posts of public trust to which he has previously been called.

The contemplated change in the Treasury does not dis turb Wall street any more than the sudden crisis in the Cabinet of Great Britain, or the outflow of gold from the Bank of England. Either of these three events, in certain crisis of the market, might form both a pretext and a cause of trouble; but the tide seems turning for the moment in favor of ease, although money still rules high and irregular. The material point in the monetary situation is the overpowering influence of the cliques who hold unchecked control over the loan market, and almost everywhere else, except perhaps in the gold room. The problem is discussed with some anxiety whether the trouble and weakness of the money market will pass away, or whether they will grow worse, and culminate in a general panic. Formerly such financial convulsions used to visit us once in ten years. We have escaped for nearly 16 years. But the monetary pressure is growing more severe with every season, and this spring it has been worse than for many years before.

The data for the working out of this problem are so uncertain that we fear little that is very positive can be said for its solution. It is certain, however, that the trouble partly arose out of the fire at Chicago, and the consequent drain thither of large sums of our floating capital. This drain we did not feel so much at the time. Like many great shocks, its later effects are more formidable than its earlier ones. But capital is increasing so fast at Chicago and throughout the West that the loss caused by the destruction of so many millions of its accumulated wealth will soon cease to be recognized as an element of monetary disturbance.

The calling in of the Clearing House Certificates during the last two years to the amount of over 40 millions of dollars has also something to do with this trouble. It has lessened the available material for bank reserves at the very time that the demand for this reserve was increasing in consequence of the enlargement of the bank note aggregate, and the consequent creation of new banks throughout the South and West. This evil has, however, spent its force, as the authorized bank notes are all issued or appropriated, and it is hoped that no more will be sanctioned until these notes are redeemed in New York and cease to be legal tender.

There are indications of a brisk trade this season in almost all departments of business. One of the principal requisites needed to give tone to our money market is a succession of two or three good harvests and no interference with the financial mechanism by the Treasury or by Congress. The partial relaxation which has already occurred in monetary affairs has already given an impulse to trade, and the domestic exchanges are again ruling in our favor. At Chicago and other Western centres there is more ease since the close of the pork-packing season, and as currency is flowing this way, the bank statement to-day ought to show rising averages.

, FISCAL REFORM AT ALBANY.

On Thursday the Union League Club took very decided action in favor of the repeal of our State taxation on bonds and mortgages. For several years fiscal reformers have been agitating the general question whether credits in any shape can properly be subjected to a tax. It is very evident that so broad a question must be considered in de tail. In regard to such credits as are based, like mortgages, on real estate which pays its own tax, the principle may be regarded as virtually settled. Under no equitable system of fiscal apportionment can we defend the double tax as at present imposed.

The whole discussion arises out of the complexity of our system of taxation in this State. Here as in almost all the other States of the Union, the fiscal machinery, when first set up, was intended to be of the most simple description. It is built on the principle of scheduling all property wherever we can find it, and assessing it for tax purposes against its owner.

This method of taxation was supposed to be so simple and so direct that no citizen could be injured or complain. Being levied on the individual in respect of his acquired property it seemed to respond to the cardinal principle o all taxation, that every person should pay in proportion to his ability, and to the amount of protection he receives under the law. In a simple state of society, among a sparse population not greatly differing in wealth, such a system of taxation caused no very glaring inequality. But as capital accumulated and great cities sprang up, trouble began. The very method adopted to preclude and prohibit circuitous and indirect taxation fostered it. The people were taxed in respect to their property, whether real or personal, the latter including securities or credits. Let us analyse these two classes of property and the incidence of the taxation upon them. Is the tax on real estate, from which the largest part of our State revenue is received, a direct tax? It is direct only when it is levied on the ocoupier or person using the house or land. If the owner is not the occupier, and the tax is levied on him, it is an indirect tax, because he expects to add the tax to his rent, and the burden is ultimately borne by the tenant. As Mill observes a house tax is a direct tax if levied on the occupier; if on the builder or owner it is an indirect tax. In some of our cities the custom of landlords is to rent their houses at a certain rent, the tenant paying the taxes. In others the landlords pay the taxes. In a third class there are both methods. Now what is evident is that this tax is often indirect because it is circuitous. If the landlord pays the tax he adds it to the rent, so that the tenant pays it at the list, but the tax is indirect, and not direct, as it was intended to be.

In this analysis of the incidence of our taxation we find the explanation of a phenomenon which our European critics find it hard to understand. "How comes it," they ask, "that the large capitalists and opulent land owners did not interfere and stop the enormous municipal frauds by which the Ring robbed the city of annual millions for several successive years?" The answer is that these men, though they had immense bills of taxes to pay, had the power to charge them forward to their tenants, so that unless in special cases, these capitalists were only the farmers of the municipaltaxes. They paid the taxes and assessed them on others to get their it to be distinctly understood that "no diversion and no new money back, shifting the pressure from their own shoulders except as to the property they occupied themselves. Not to speak of frauds in assessments by which the Ring knew how to pacity or to punish the owners of real estate, this indirectness of taxation alone goes far to explain the inertness and indifference of our opulent men in regard to municipal

Now let us carry the analysis a step further. Suppose the owner of the real estate raises money upon it by way of mortgage, then let us see where the tax falls. Suppose A is the owner of a lot worth $15,000, which he wishes to improve. He has no more capital. He borrows of B $10,000, and builds a house on his lot, giving a mortgage as security. When the house is built, A is taxed on the value of the house and lot. B also is taxed on the mortgage he holds. Before the loan, A had $15,000 in a lot, and was taxed for it; Bhad $10,000 in loanable capital, and was taxed for it. The whole amount of taxable property was $25,000, and it was taxed $25,000. After the loan, A still owns the lot, $15,000, and he has also B's $10,000, in the shape of a house on it, for which B has A's obligation. B has a right to receive $10,000 from A. A has now tangible property, $25,000. The whole amount of property is just what it was at first. No more has been created. But still by a fiction created by our simple tax system B is taxed on his security $10,000, while A is taxed on the same $10,000, together with his own $15,000 worth of real estate; we have thus an aggregate of $35,000 of taxable property on the schedule, while $10,000 of the sum exists only on paper.

By proceeding with our analysis we might easily apply this argument to other cases less simple. In all we should find illustrations of the same great general principle that the tax on mortgages is always paid by the borrower. If, moreover, the securities be taxed which are the evidences of the debt, the lender who pays the tax charges it on to the borrower, so that the borrower has to pay a double tax comprising first his own direct tax in respect of his property, and secondly the recoupment to his mortgagee of the tax the latter has paid. We have space to notice but one further evil of these taxes. Mortgages are so difficult to reach that by far the larger portion escape taxation altogether. But the poor borrower does not escape. His creditor, the mortgagee, collects the tax which he does not pay to the State, and thus many millions of mortgages elude taxation every year, and there appears to be no sure way of reaching them or of redressing this and other evils inseparable from this impost except by repealing the mortgage tax altogether. We think the Union League Club have done wisely in urging this instalment of practicable reform without attempting any more sweeping or doubtful changes in the law.

THE FINANCIAL POLICY OF THE ADMINISTRATION.

Profound anxiety has been roused all over the country in regard to the future course in which our finances are to ateer. The New York Herald, to quiet the public mind, sent a special commissioner to interview the President, and has thus introduced a new custom, which we shall not be surprised to see repeated, of going direct to the White House as well as to the Treasury, to find out what changes, at any critical moment, are likely in the financial policy. Like all first attempts, this of the commissioner is somewhat vague in its results. General Grant said, in substance, that there will be no change, no new financial experiments, no governmental disturbance of the quiet flow of monetary business. The President added emphatically that he wished experiments in the financial policy of the administration are contemplated, and that consequently no disturbance in the business affairs of the country is apprehended. Let well enough alone is a good rule until we are sure of something better. No change is contemplated, with the retirement of Mr. Boutwell, in the general financial policy of the government. The system pursued has met with the approbation of the country, and with that he was content."

This is reassuring; because the wildest rumors have been fermenting in Wall street, and have not been without apparent confirmation. These rumors pointed to changes of the most dangerous sort, and to innovations which would shake the public credit to its foundations. The President is right in saying that the people approve the general course of the financial administration during the past four years. It is popular in spite of its errors; and this journal, while exposing and refuting the one, has heartily supported the other. Three principles have so far governed this policy, first, to take off the burdens of the people by liquidating the debt and lowering the taxes; secondly, to enhance the public credit and reduce the interest on the national debt; thirdly, to improve the currency and bring it down toward the level of specie payments. In carrying out these three guiding maxims General Grant has allowed himself to be gov-His policy has been cautious, erned by circumstances. conservative, and, on the whole, thoroughly popular among those very industrial and financial thinkers who have lately taken the alarm. What has evoked so sudden a change?

So far as we learn it is nothing else but the spectre of paper money. On financial questions our people are better instructed than some of their leaders. They foresee the terrors that would lay waste the field of commerce and blacken the public credit should paper money be again enthroned among us. This is what the country dreads. Is the danger real; or are our people scared by imaginary perils? This is the question on which the public look for light. We commend it to the President on the one side and to the nation on the other, as to the two principals between whom the controversy lies.

Failing to reach as yet the direct evidence the people are interrogating facts. They want to know about the over issues of greenbacks? One piece of news is flashed over the wires almost at the hour we write. Greenbacks have been issued and partly withdrawn to the extent of a million of dollars or more. Why have they been emitted? Be cause the Treasury has no balance with which to pay its debts? No. The balance in hand is large enough. But it is inestly in gold, while the most pressing debts have to be paid chiefly in currency. But why is the Treasury afraid to sell gold for currency to an extent sufficient for its needs? Why was not the emergency foreseen. Do the present demands come unexpected? Seldom except in the earlier part of the war have any such claims on our National Treasury been made a reason for raising a new borrowing loan—and seldomer still for borrowing in the worst possible way, by the issue of irredeemable paper money.

We do not say that this issue to the extent of a million is absolutely forbidden by the law, but it is certainly at variance with sound policy. Such shifts cannot but injure the public credit, if repeated. The country would fain know how to interpret this inflation. It occurred at the very time when by the debt statement it appeared that greenbacks had been reduced and that the aggregate of three hundred and fifty-six millions had just been reached and our six months' inflation brought to an end. Who was prepared to expect new greenbacks at this moment of gratified national aspiration towards a sound currency? Who dreamt of such a contingency? Nobody, if we except a few keen speculators who are said to have bought the news from confederates at Washington. Such secret information, corruptly given, and shrewdly used in a sensitive money market like ours, would make of a needy government-clerk a man of fortuncill, in this country, greenbacks are to be emitted and withdrawn at will, in profound secreey, without any control of law or of previous publicity, then the men who wield this prerogative will have the most powerful engine ever set up in this country for controlling business, unsettling obligations, disturbing the conditions of contracts, and changing the most vital relations of creditors to their debtors. By no commercial people in the world, except under the pressure of war, could such a power be borne.

But why, it may be asked, do we make so much ado about a million or so of new greenbacks taken from the reserve? The answer is not far to seek. We acknowledge no "reserve" of greenbacks except to pay 3 per cent certifieates. This is the only reserve sanctioned in the law. But there is another so-called "reserve" claimed by the Treasury, a reserve of 44 millions with hawn seven years ago. Rumor says, we hope without the slightest evidence, that it was by the authority and desire of the President that the ingenious argument was made for more greenbacks, and the right claimed of reissuing the 44 millions which have been out of circulation so long. Such arguments have been refuted over and over again; but they spring up as often as they are cut down. If greenbacks are about to flood the channels of the circulation, and undo the work of years of painful approach towards specie payments, they justify concern. There is, therefore, this reason why so much is said against a million of over-issued currency. It may form a precedent for more, a precedent of a character pregnant with untold mischief. To dispel the fear thus started and spreading through the country, the President will do well to have it understood that whoever else is in favor of new issues of greenbacks, he makes no claims to such a perilous prerogative.

There is this further reason for such a declaration. We have said that the law, so far as appears, has not been broken by the issues that have yet been made. The new greenbacks just emitted may be justified under the general law passed during the war and providing 50 millions of "reserve" for the paying off of demand loans. The certificates now held by the banks amount to $1,310,000, and are the only demand loans which remain out. All the rest of these short obligations have been paid off to the extent of hundreds of millions of dollars. The reserve of 50 millions above referred to is thus down to $1,310,000, and as there is no warrant of law for the issue of greenbacks beyond this aggregate, so we have need of official evidence that no more has as yet been emitted, or is to be.

A NEW ARGUMENT AGAINST OUR USURY LAWS.

"There is nothing new under the sun;" and certainly we can expect nothing absolutely new on a subject which has tasked the best efforts of the keenest minds for many centuries. All we can hope is a novel application of old arguments, and of this we are reminded by one of the points made in Dr. Marsland's lecture on Usury last Thursday, at the University. He claimed that the Bible is an advocate of free trade in money, and gives no support to our usury laws. This is contrary to the opinion of many excellent people. If the argument is sound it may help to shake off prejudice from scrupulous minds, and dispose them to investigate further.

end. Who was prepared to expect new greenbacks at this moment of gratified national aspiration towards a be tested by the evidence of the book itself. We must consound currency? Who dreamt of such a contingency? sult first the Mosaic code, and secondly the Christian code Nobody, if we except a few keen speculators who are if we would find out what they say about usury. If the Old and New Teataments in their spirit and teaching are in favor of free trade in money, the fact can only be shown by consulting those two inspired documents themselves.

First then as to the Mosaic law. The word usury occurs 17 times in the Old Testament, and is always forbidden. But usury means "interest" in all English books of a certain age, as we have had occasion sometimes to explain. The translators would have used the word interest instead of usury if they had lived in our day. For usury as now used has always its bad sense. It implies extortion. This refinement of language is of modern origin. Our forefathers knew nothing of it. The old English meaning of the word usury was money paid for the use of modey whether exorbitant or not.

The word interest, seems to have been first used as a legislative term in 1623, in the act of Parliament 21st James I. Since then the term usury has gone out of vogue in its good sense, and has obstinately taken on the meaning it has now of an unlawful extortionate interest. We insist on this change, because it is important. It shows why our translators employed the term usury to signify ordinary equitable interest. The latter word did not come into exclusive use till about 1623, whereas our ordinary version of the English Bible was published in 1611, and its translation began in 1604. With this clue to guide us, we find that what the Mosaic code forbids was not usury, but all sinterest whatever. If, as many worthy men among us believe, we should follow the law of the Hebrews iu this matter, we must stop taking interest altogether, as Proudhon and the French socialists taugnt.

Let us explain this provision of the Hebrew code by the key to it given in the New Testament. There we find the word usury twice. It occurs no where else but in the parable of the (talents, as given in two parallel passages. In both of these the taking of interest appears as a wellknown custom, which the Great Teacher does not forbid, but implicitly approves. He speaks familiarly of it, and represents the lord of the unfaithful servant as claiming back not only his moneyed principal, but also usury, that is, the ordinary interest. From this it seems that the Christian code is opposed to the Mosaic code. The first approves of interest; the second forbids it. But is this strange? Do not these two codes differ, and must they not reasonably be expected to differ, on many points; as for instance in the cancellation of debts at the year of jubilee, and the forbidding of the perpetual alienation of real estate, and the preventing of a woman from marrying out of her own family. Surely our scrupulous friends would not have us adopt these. Yet they are a part of the Mosaic code just as is the usury law. The difficulty is easily explained. The Christian code was intended for all nations, and will be in force to the end of time, while the Hebrew law was a temporary municipal code for the Jews alone, - and for that chosen nation only during their isolated nationality as the tenants of Jehovah in the promised land.

The Jews were a people set apart from the whole world. During the Mosaic age, and for hundreds of years later, they were exclusively agricultural. They had no commerce, few roads, little trade, no organized industry, no manufactures. The mechanic arts were nearly unknown, or were represented by the carpenter's shed, the tent-maker's seat, the distaff and loom, or the simple hearth of the worker in ron and brass. They had no organized capital as we have, and did not need our methods of thrift or our facilities for investment. Their capital consisted in flocks and herds, in gold or jewels or apparel; in seed corn, implements of husbandry or inalienable land. They were brethren, one man's heirs. Their petty loans to each other of provisious or raiment, of seed corn or money, were mere family accommodations which the needy might demand as a right and the opulent were not allowed by the law to refuse. They had no such frugal habits of investment as other nations, and so usury was forbidden. That this is the correct view is seen from the fact that a Jew was allowed to charge usury to a atranger, showing that the prohibition was only a municipal ordinance. The whole of the Hebrew law on this subject is summed up in Deut. xxiii., 19: "Thou shalt not lend upon usury (i. e., upon interest) to thy brother; usury of money, usury of victuals, usury of any thing that is lent upon usury. Unto a stranger thou mayest lend upon usury; but unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon usury * * in the land whither thou goest to possess it."

Without going further into the details of this argument, we see how little force there is in the scruple by which our friends are troubled. Their error is a very old one. The ancient church held it. The civil and canon laws hold it. Many excellent Protestants in former ages and in our day have held that the Bible forbids usury. The New Testament, however, wherever it is mentioned, does not forbid it, but speaks of it with approval. If we remember that what it approves is not usury as we understand the word in these days; but interest,—the ordinary hire payable by a borrower for the use of other people's capital, we must infer that the Mosaic law against usury was defunct in the time of our Saviour, and that nowhere is there anything in the Bible to govern usury laws except its general principles of equityits golden maxims to avoid oppression, and to deal justly with others as we would wish them to deal with us. In short, the Bible teachings are as consistent with free trade in money as they are repugnant to the spirit of oppression, coercion and injustice which have given to our penal statutes against usury their present unpopularity, and must soon compel their repeal.

RAILROAD EARNINGS IN FEBRUARY, AND FROM JANUARY 1 TO MARCH 1.

The reports of rail-oad earnings in the month of February are much more encouraging than those of the previous month. Many of the leading roads show an increase over February of last year, although there was one more working day then (1872 being leap year) than in the month just past. This may at first seem an unimportant matter, though it is not so in fact, as one day's earnings make a large sum, and would amount to about $18,000 on a road earning $500,000 in the month, and on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern road, which earned $1,549,285 in February last, one day's earnings would amount to about $56,000.

There has been a statement of railroad earnings already published for February and copied into several of the leading morning newspapers, and we invite particular attention to that and all similar statements issued in haste and apparently compiled without any care. The earnings of Lake Shore for February are there stated at $2,961,653, and for the two months, January and February, at $4,374,022. Erie is made to show the important decrease of about $300,000 in February alone. The Missouri, Kansas & Texas road is said to have earned $202,127, whereas its receipts were $218,000. The Michigan Central's earnings are given for February at $441,863, whereas they are $542,008; the St. Louis & Iron Mountain Railroad earnings are given therein, although the company had only received two week's reports. We call attention to these great inaccuracies for the purpose of directing the notice of our readers to the tables below, which have been carefully prepared from official reports and are substantially correct

*The tabulated statistics are for the State of Illinois alone, being based, in most instances, upon a careful analysis and distribution of the railroad companies' accounts. In the instances of some roads extending into other States (marked in the tables by a star) the amounts given are estimates for this State, made in this office, being proportioned as accurately as the information given enabled it to be done. In these instances the statistics for the entire lines may be found in the full text of the companies' reports.

Milwankee City Bonds.—From the Sentinel we learn that the special committee, to whom were referred all matters relating to special committee, to whom were referred all matters relating to the adjustment and payment of the Beloit and the Superior Railway bonds, and to devise means to pay the past due coupons, have completed their labors, we understand, and, as directed, have prepared a bill and sent it out to Madison for legislative enactment. The amount due on these bonds with accrued interest, we learn, amounts now to the sum of $559,000. As the city a rectricted in issuince bonds are that the badded data to the large

Narrow Guage Railroads.—The subject of narrow guage railroads is one that has been so largely discussed and written upon during the past few years that to the average reader about railreads, it has become entirely obscured by voluminous and controlled the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the statement of the state tradictory statements. We are glad to find in the R. R. Gazette a review of some length on the subject, in which the leading arguments in favor of narrow guage are given scriatin, together with the answers usually made thereto by its opponents. Prefacing that the Gazette is one of the opposition we quote its remarks as follows:

".We have before us an accumulation of literature" relating to this subject, which has been steadily growing for some months past, and which indicates that considerable attention is still given to it, and that much difference of opinion exists in relation to the merits of this system. What we purpose to deal with now is the apparently honest opinions and arguments of those who advocate and those who oppose the narrow-guage system for building rail-roads, and to review the discussion which has now been carried on so long, and whose literature has become so formidable, and much of it also exceedingly tedious.

Any one who will read these discussions, and who studies the question in other directions, will find, we think, that as the question now stands the advantages which are claimed for the narrow-guage system are as follows:

1. A reduction in cost, owing to the narrower guage requiring less width of roadway in embankments and cuts.

To this the answer is, that (a) the saving in cost which is due to the distance between the rails will amount to a very small percentthe distance between the rails will amount to a very small percentage of the cost of graduation; (b) that there will be no saving at all in cuttings or tunnels, if cars of the same width are used on both guages, as is quite practicable; (c) and that the bearing surface, and consequently the length of the cross-ties, is governed by the weight and not the guage of the cars, and, therefore, if the latter are made as light for the one guage as for the other, the ties may be of the same length, and the embankments of the same width in both cases. (d) Mr. Fairlie says in his book that "An average mile of properly designed narrow-guage road, ready for grading, is not an average mile of standard road with a piece cut out of the centre." Now if a standard-guage road, "with a piece cut out of the centre" is not a narrow-guage read, what is it? Whether it is "properly designed" is quite another question; nor does it appear why it is impossible to "properly design" a wide-guage road as well as one which is narrow.

2. It is said that the difference in the length of the inside and the outside rails is greater on wide than on narrow-guage roads.

the outside rails is greater on wide than on narrow-guage roads, and that therefore the slipping of the wheels in passing around curves is less on the one than on the other, and that therefore the resistance of cars is less, and consequently that shorter curves are practicable. From this follows the inference, that as shorter curves can be used, therefore the road can conform more to the incomplisities of the courter in right; it is about the roat to inequalities of the country in which it is bullt, and the cost of graduation thus be diminished.

These premises and conclusions are denied, for the following reasons: (a) The degree of curvature is not determined by the resistance of cars, but by their stability and ability to remain on the rails. (b) Wide-guage cars having more stability other things being equal, than those for a narrow guage, can run around curves of as short a radii as the latter. (c) The amount of the difference in resistance is purely surmise, as none of the statements which have been published are based upon actual experiments. (d) Calculating from purely theoretical data, it is evident that the resistance or converse is influenced only the control by the ves is influenced only to a very slight extent by the sistance on cui guage. (e) With a single exception, shorter curves are now operated on lines of the standard guage in this country than on the new narrow-guage roads.

3. It is asserted that cars of a given capacity for narrow-guage roads are lighter than those for the standard guage, and that, their gross weight being less, lighter engines are needed to draw the trains and and lighter rails to carry them and less bearing surface for the cross ties on the road bed, and that consequently shorter ties can be used, and narrower embankments will be required.

The reply made to this is, (a) that the weight of the car body, wheels, axle boxes, jaws, and longitudinal framing of the trucks and brake attachments, excepting the brake beams, are not affected by the guage, and that the difference in the weight of the axies, traverse framings of the trucks and brake beams for a 4ft of an eight-wheeled box car empty, and a little more than 2 per cent of it loaded. The weight of empty four-wheeled cars for the standard guage will be only about 2 per cent more than for a 3-foot road, and about 1 per cent when loaded. (b) Some of the cars in this country on standard guage roads weigh very little, if any, more in proportion to their capacity (estimating the latter by the cublcal contents for freight and scating capacity for passengers) than the cars for similar traffic on narrow-guage roads. Thus, elght-wheeled freight box cars for the Denver & Rio Grande 3 feet guage railway, with 680 cubic feet of capacity, which, if rated at 15lbs. per foot, would give a load of 10,200 lbs., weigh 8,800lbs., or a proportion of 1 to 1.16. The cars for the Cairo & St. Louis road waigh 10.000lbs. 8,800lbs., or a proportion of 1 to 1.16. The cars for the Cairo & St. Louis road weigh 10,000lbs., and have a capacity of about 800 cubic feet, or 12,000lbs., or a proportion of 1 to 1.2. Mr. Smith's new box cars on the Erle 6-foot guage have a proportion of 1 to 1.17. The passenger cars on the Denver & Rio Grande road weigh 416lbs. per passenger, and those for the Cairo & St. Louis 469lbs. per passenger. On the New Jersey (4ft. 10in. guage) road are cars which, with the same scating room as that given in the narrow-guage cars, would weigh 435lbs. per passenger; on the Eric (6 feet guage) only 385; on the New York Elevated road (4ft. 10in. guage) 259lbs. per passenger; and four-wheeled horse cars which weigh 4,400lbs. have 22 seats, and therefore weigh just 200lbs. per passenger. The same cars, as we know to our sorrow, in New York rery often carry 50 or more passengers. (c) "The capacity of cars for either passengers or freight depends upon the in New York rery often carry 50 or more passengers. (c) The capacity of cars for either passengers or freight depends upon the area of their floor, and the nearer a parallelogram approaches to the square in the length of its sides, the more space will it inclose with a given outline." Therefore the proportion of the weight of the sides of a car to the area inclosed is reduced if the midth is increased an advantage which a wide green has over a width is increased—an advantage which a wide guage has over a narrow.

4. It is claimed that for a light traffle, small cars are much more economical than large ones, and that, while it is possible to make the latter for a wide guage with as small a proportion of dead weight to carrying capacity as for a narrow guage, small cars for the latter will weigh materially less than they will for the standard guage.

This argument has been answered (a) by the fact, that the size of cars, and consequently the guage, has been determined by of cars, and consequently the guage, has been determined by the stature of ordinary men and women and the requirements of their industry, and that the weight of cars to fulfil these requirements is not materially affected by the difference in distance between the rails of the proposed narrow guages and the present standard width of 4ft, 8\frac{1}{2}\text{in.}, as has been shown. (b) That the economy imputed to the use of small cars is dependent more upon the traffic management and the skill with which freight and passengers are received on the cars, and the latter distributed to most the wants of the humors of the line. meet the wants of the business of the line.

Many arguments besides those which which we have presented in favor of narrow-guage roads are current in the newspapers, and among those who advocate or are interested in the construction of we have frequently taken occasion to point out, nearly all the narrow-guage reasoning rests on the assumption that the care weigh less because the rails are near together. To inexperienced weigh less because the rails are near together. To inexperienced people this looks so plausible that they accept it at once, and then build their elaborate structure, which is always surmounted with a gilded sum total of dividends and profits. What is quite curious, however, is that in nearly all the dissertations before us, the authors renounce the idea that the economy of the narrow guage "system" is due to the guage.

So much has been said and written about the Festinieg Bailway So much has been said and written about the resumeg manway that we refer to it with reluctance; but so many arguments have been based on it as a text, that the opinion of a skillful engineer who carefully examined its operation and construction may, perhaps, at least modify the effect of some of the rose-colored accounts of it which have been disseminated so widely. With the naps, at least modify the effect of some of the rose-colored accounts of it which have been disseminated so widely. With the letter of Mr. Latrobe, Mr. Evans has printed one from Mr. Guilford L. Molesworth, Director of Public Works, Ceylon, who visited this now celebrated road. We regret that we have not space to print it entire. After stating that "the charge on this road for carrying slate is 2½d, per ton per mile, and 2½d, for other traffic, which may be said to be almost entirely mineral, being of coal and lime," he says: "Now the mineral rates charged on ordinary English lines vary from $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1d, per ton per mile, or less than

On the finished line across Minnesota, from Duluth to Fargo, On the finished line across Minnesota, from Duluth to Fargo, the road has been run all winter with remarkable regularity and freedom from snow difficulties. There has been less necessary delay on the Northern Pacific Road this winter than on the roads east of it to Chicago and New York. Considerable snow has fallen in eastern Minnesota this winter, but there has not been an unusual amount in the western part of the State and across Dakota. The occasional snow fences opposite the excavations have served their purpose well have served their purpose well.

In common with the rest of the country and with Europe, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and the entire Northwest have had a most unusual winter season. There have been some days of very severe weather, but it was quite as cold about the same period in most of the Eastern States.

On the western slope of the Rocky Mountains, in Eastern Washington Territory, the local papers state that the farmers of Walla Walla Valley were ploughing their fields on the 26th of January, though the early part of winter had been, as elsewhere, unusually cold for the region.

The winter climate along the Pacific Division of our road, between the Columbia River and Puget Sound, which is in regular daily operation, may be inferred from the fact that at Portland, Oregon, the average temperature for January was 45 degrees above zero; the highest was 58 degrees, and the lowest 34 degrees above. Snow fell on one day, the 2d, to a depth of two and a half inches. Grass has been green throughout the winter about Puget Sound, and several varieties of flowers were in bloom out of doors in Jannary and February.

Our experience on the finished line, and authentic reports from the remainder of the route satisfy me that the Northern Pacific road, if completed from Lake Superior to Puget Sound, would have been kept in regular operation the entire distance the last winter without difficulty.

St. Paul & Paeifle.—The St. Paul Press has the following respecting the litigation in this case: As a matter of fact the franchises and all the property of the Minnesota & Pacific Railroad Company were forfeited by the terms of the deed of trust under which these proceedings are taken, to the State of Minnesota. Six hundred of the first mortgage bonds issued under the deed of trust, of the par value of $600,000, were delivered by the company to the State of Minnesota in 1858 as security for the express of an equal arount of hoods of the State issued to the company to the State of Minnesota 10 1005 as security for the payment of an equal amount of bonds of the State issued to the company at the same time. And a supplement to the trust deed required that in case of a default by the company to pay the interest or principal of the State bonds issued to them, the trustees interest or principal of the State bonds issued to them, the trustees were required to foreclose the trust deed, or if they refused then the Governor of the State was to foreclose such trust deed, which he did in strict conformity with the terms of the trust deed and of the constitution and laws of Minnesota, on April 24, 1860, and thus all the franchises, land grants and property of the road reverted to the State, which in time regranted them to the St. Paul & Pacific company. Our own State courts have uniformly sustained the validity of the title of the railroad companies succeeding to the franchises, grants, etc., perfected by the old comceeding to the franchises, grants, etc., perfected by the old companies under the loan amendment of 1858, and the fact that thirteen years have elapsed since the foreclosure by the State, without any serious attempt to contest it.

The Charleston Courier remarks in an article communicated "The Savannah & Charleston Railroad has a bright future in store for it, and a business that must prove very large and remunerative. In addition to its own freight and passenger traffic, it will come in for an important share of the business not only between Augusta and Charleston and Augusta and Savannah, but also the very profitable and growing trade along the line of the Port Royal road, a fine planting, timber, and turpentine section, now for the most part in a state of virginity. Then when it is remembered that the Port Royal road is a protege of that large and wealthy corporation, the Georgia Railroad & Banking Company—perhaps the soundest institution in the great State of Georgia—and that the Savannah & Charleston road is a connecting link of these roads, combined with the significant fact that ing link of these roads, combined with the significant fact the distance from Augusta to either Charleston or Sayannah by the new route is no longer than by the old lines, it follows by consequence that all the business the Georgia road can control will be thrown in the way of its own connections, thereby advancing itself.'

New Orleans, Mobile & Texas.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the New Orleans, Mobile & Texas Railroad Company was held in this city this week, and the following Board of Directors was elected, viz: Messrs. Oakes Ames, George Innis, Samuel S. Post, Jr., Charles J. Oshorne, John J. Howell, Erastus Young and S. Foster Dewey. The Directors have elected George Dennis President, Samuel L. Post, Jr., Vice-President, and John J. Howell Treasurer. A force of 2,000 men is at work on the line. Trains run daily between New Orleans and Donaldsonville, a distance of 63 miles, and the grading is proceeding with energy toward Houston. A bridge 300 feet long over the Grand River has been completed, and 20 miles of grading have been done between that point and Vermillionville. A suit has been brought against the company in New Orleans, but the Directors state that it is the result of ill-feeling, though remarking that it was true there had been a failure in the payment of their coupons, but it was confidently hoped and believed that the putting of the road in new hands would lead to better results for the future.

Boston, Hartford & Erie.—In the United States Circuit Court in Beston, arguments were begun before Judge Shepley, March 12, urging that an injunction be granted to prevent a foreelosure on the Berdell mortgage. The Erie Railway Company, in behalf of which the injunction is asked, claim that they lent money to pay the interest on the Berdell bonds with the understanding that the receipts of the road should be used for its equivalent; that said receipts were not so used, and that, therefore, they have a claim on the road for such moneys so advanced, and that if the mortgage is foreclosed the road will go into the hands of a new corporation, which may not be willing to pay the debt of its predecessor. Both sides are represented by eminent lawyers, and the hearing promises to occupy several days. the hearing promises to occupy several days.

Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago.—The Daily Bulletin says that this road has now completed thirty-seven miles of double track east of Chicago; also thirty-seven miles west of Pittsburg, and fifty-two miles between Pittsburg and Crestline, making in all one hundred and twenty-six miles of steel rails. This summer they intend to complete the double track clear to Chicago. This they intend to complete the double track clear to Chicago. This work was commenced last summer a year ago, from Rochester to Beaver Summit, by straightening the heavy grade curves and laying thereon the Bessemer steel rails. The company has just closed a contract for sixty-four miles of additional double track, steel rail, west of Pittsburg, which they intend to commence laying just as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

Lexington & St. Louis Railroad.—The Lexington & St. Louis Railroad has been declared bankrupt by Judge Krekel, of the U.S. District Court in Jefferson City, Mo. Judge Krekel declared that the road should be adjudicated a bankrupt for the interest and protection of its stockholders; that it appeared from the evidence in the case that there had been very many irregularities and improprieties on the part of many of the officers and others connected with the road; and that it was a proper case for the just operation of the bankrupt law, and that, if enough is found to satisfy all debts of the road then the rights of the stockholders and the Pacific road, the lessee, should remain intact. and the Pacific road, the lessee, should remain intact.

BANKING OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

5 NASSAU STREET.

NEW YORK, March 7, 1873.

The CHESAPEAKE and OHIO, the CENTRAL PACIFIC and WESTERN PACIFIC BONDS, all of which have been negotiated by ns, we believe to be among the best and most desirable Invest ment Securities in the market, which in time must become very scarce; especially as the Government will probablypay off, in gold, $300,000,000 more Five-Twenties during the year, and a money thus released from investment must find large amount its way into this class of securities.

The CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS, the total amount of which is only $15,000,000, are secured upon a property worth $35,000,000 to $10,000,000, and are fully equal in intrinsic value to the CENTRAL PACIFIC BONDS. They are issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000, coupon or registered, and at their present market price, 874 and accrued interest, are very desirable.

The CENTRAL PACIFIC SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS are too well known to require description or commendation. Their total amount is $25,885,000; they have for a long time ranged in market price near or above par. Their market price to-day is 1034@104.

The WESTERN PACIFIC SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS amount to $2,735,000. This road is now consolidated with the CENTRAL PACIFIC, and the payment of its bonds, principal and interest, is assumed by the latter. As they have recently been introduced on the Stock Exchange, we expect to see them rapidly rise to the price of CENTRAL PACIFICS, being substantially the same in character and value. Coupon Bonds, $1,000 each. Their market price to-day is 944@95.

We buy and sell, as usual, Government Bonds, receive deposits, on which we allow interest, make collections, and conduct a general banking business in all its branches.

FRIDAY EVENING, March 14, 1873.

The Money Market .- After the announcement from Washington was first definitely made that the Secretary of the Treasury would use a part of the $44,000,000 of legal tenders, rates for money weakened slightly, and declined on Monday the 10th inst. to 7 per cent currency. The decline proved to be temporary, however, and the rates since then have included a centmission of 1-64 to 1-16 in addition to legal interest, except where porary, nowever, and the rates since then have included a cenning sion of 1-64 to 1-16 in addition to legal interest, except where transactions were made after bank hours, or by those borrowers who always get accommodation at 7 per cent, or at 7 gold as a maximum. To day the current rates were 1-64 to 1-32 and in terest, in the morning, and down to 7 and 7 gold in the afternoon. In commercial paper there has been no material change, the quotation being 9 to 10 for the best short date paper, with a range up to 15 for other paper not quite as choice but embracing many very good names. There has been considerable railroad paper sold during the past month. Time loans of currency have been quoted as follows: 30 days, 7 per cent and ½ commission; 60 days to 4 months, 7 per cent and 1½ per cent commission.

The prospect of a speedy relief to the stringency of our money market does not seem to be particularly promising. Our banks are looking for the usual demand for currency from Western New York and beyond, which usually comes a little before the first of April, and as the hope of any large issue of legal tenders by the 'freasnry is dispelled for the time being, we are tenders by the Treasury is dispelled for the time being, we are unable to see that money will probably be much easier until after April 1.

It is stated that the new Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Richardson, is decidedly opposed to any permanent increase in the volume of legal tenders, and that he will, at most, only issue such limited amounts as may be necessary to meet the pressing and temperary demands of the Treasury. Despatches from Washington have stated that $1,059,000 were issued up to Tuesday last, and again this morning that $50,000 of this amount had been recalled.

The country is undoubtedly much agitated just now by the long continuance of stringency in money at the leading financial centres, and aside from artificial influences, the causes most generally assigned for this stringency are—first, the withdrawal of $40,000,000, Legal-Tender Certificates, in about two years past; secondly, the export of gold, which has reduced the bank reserves in the specie line; and, thirdly, the fact that a part of the deposits which formerly came to Eastern cities is now placed in cities of which formerly came to Eastern cities is now placed in cities of the Interior, where interest is paid on them.

Advices by cable are favorable, and money in London continues lower than 3½ per cent, which remains the Bank minimum discount rate; bullion in bank shows a decrease this week of £257,000. Specie in the Bank of France has increased 4,333,000 francs. The last statement of our city banks (March 8) showed a deficiency below the 25 per cent reserve required by law of $204,875.

The total liabilities were $227,309,900, and the reserves $56,622,-

State and Ratiroad Bonds -Tennessees have been the principal and only feature in Southern State bonds, and have been very strong to day, the last regular sale being $95,000 at 85, and a subsequent sale "buyers 30," of $5,000, at 85½; the firmness is attributed to the funding measures recently passed.

In Georgia bonds a better teoling is reported, though there is no activity. Railroad bonds have not shown a large business, either for the old bends seld at the board, nor for the new issues. Some considerable transactions have been made in Beston II. and Erie, in view of the argument now going on before the U. S. Court in Boston. Union Pacific incomes have recovered to 72; the first mortgage sold to day at 86, the land grants are quoted at 771@78.

Closing prices daily, and the range since Jan. 1, have been:

This was partially maintained during the next day and on Wednesday morning, but subsequently the market became weak and prices fell off. During yesterday and to-day the general tone has been dull, with a tendency to weakness, though the Vanderbilt stocks closed stronger than the rest of the market. On another page we give a statement of railroad earnings for February, which compares very favorably with the same month of last very month of last year.

The Gold Market.—On Saturday last the party controlling the gold market sold out a large part of their holdings, probably in view of the reports from Washington that more greenlacks would be issued or that the Treasury would sell gold heavily. The holding of gold has also been heavy this week in consequence of the high rates which have prevailed most of the time for carrying. The impression prevails, however, that the clique has not yet entirely sold out, and that another upward turn may be forced at any moment.

To-day the price opened at 115, and closed at 114%.

The rates paid for carrying to-day were 7, 7 gold, 1-32, 6, 5, and 3 per cent, and flat for borrowing.

At the Treasury sale of $1,500,000 on Thursday the bids amounted to $2,965,000. Customs receipts of the week have amounted to $2,560,000.

The following table will show the course of the gold premium
